It doesn't matter if you're in Romford and they're in Rio...

... it should always feel like you're in the same place.

With O₂ Unified Communications your people can communicate, collaborate and share wherever they are and on any device.

At O₂, we believe there's always an edge to gain, a way to improve. And that the way your people need to work should always shape the technology they use. So our unified communications integrate everything, from voice and instant messaging, to video and group conferencing. It makes it easy for your people to stay in touch, and for your customers to reach you.

Make flexible working a reality

Liberate your people with anytime, anywhere working and free up your real estate

What unified communications can do for your people

We'll look first at how your people need to work, and then help you roll out a plan that will deliver a number of key benefits.

Improve efficiency

Enjoy a seamless experience as IM, call transfer and more is the same on any device

Make it easy
Have just one number for any device so you can always be reached

Save time managing IT

Use O₂ Gateway for just one supplier and one end-to-end SLA across truly converged fixed, mobile and wifi

Manage costs

Choose to pay pence-per-minute per-user charges

Want to know more?

To find out how unified communications could benefit your organisation, call us on 01235 433 507 or visit o2.co.uk/enterprise

it's not technology first it's people first

Telefonica